NORTHERN CHIHUAHUA TO BE POLICED BY APPROXIMATELY

COWBOYS KILL 15 MARAUDERS

Employes of Hearst Ranch Make Quick Work of Gang Robbers Near Madera-Both Leaders Among Slain,

Columbus, N. M .- Preparations for the policing of Northern Chihuahua by approximately 10,000 men, composing a protective patrol of the Mexican border, are progressing rapidly here. All movements of troops and reports from Gen. Pershing's expeditionary column were guarded, however, by stringent censorship.

At military headquarters every effort was made to prevent the slightest inkling of the genera, plan of redistributing the American troops in Mexico leaking out. Namiquipa, it is said, is to be most Movements of Carranza troops throughout Northern Chihuahua also continued.

Mexican Bandits Killed. Field Headquarters, Mexico -Twenty-five cowboys from the Hearst ranch at Babricora broke and scattered a newly formed gang of bandits near Madera, killing 15, wounding one and capturing six, according to news reaching Gen. Pershing's headquarters

The bandits had been organized by Atezutro Dominguez and Pedro Castillo, who announced their enmity for Americans and adherents of Carranza. Following the theft of a number of horses from the Hearst ranch, they began a guerrilla warfare

Employes of the ranch surprised the bandits in camp near Ranch Viejo. The six taken prisoners were delivered to Carranza authorities in

Among the dead were Dominguez and Castillo, the toll bringing the number of Villa followers slain since the American punitive expedition was sent across the border up to nearly

The cowboys captured 30 horses, a number of rifles and other loot.

HELPING TEACHERS OF STATE

Present Document Written in Days of Reconstruction Does Not Permit High Degree of Progress or Development.

Jefferson City. A resolution favoring a convention to frame a new constitution for Missouri that "will answer the needs of modern progress," adopted by the Missouri's Drummers' Association in convention recently, has been forwarded to the Missouri State Teachers' Association.

The association resolved "that the present constitution of Missouri, written, as it was, in post-bellum days, when the state was yet in the throes of sectional feeling and before the present stage of progress and development was fairly begun, is inadequate as the fundamental of the state."

The association also expressed its commendation of the Missouri State Teachers' Association in its movement to bring about such a conven tion.

State Leases Game Farm Missouri's experiment in game propagation has ended, and the farm sed when the land was leased to neighboring farmer. The game farm was opened in 1911 when Jesse A. Tolerton was the state same and fish commissioner. Toleron conceived the idea that the game supply of the state could be greatly augmented by the propagation of English pheasants and Hungarian partridges. Pheasants by the thousands were raised for two years and scattered over the state and thousands of Hungarian partridges were imported and distributed. \Today it is doubtful if 500 of the pheasants are alive in Missouri and nothing is ever heard of a Hungarian partridge.

Failure of the experiment has been attributed to the ruthless slaughter of the birds by hunters and the fact that they were not intended by nature for the environment in which they were placed. They were destroyed by hawks, foxes, mink and other marauders. Perhaps $60,000 was expen-The money was raised from the sale of hunters' licenses.

How Missourians Signed Up.

The 41,500 signatures obtained to the petitions for the constitutional amendment enforcing the Gardner land bank bill were obtained from the congressional districts as follows:

First, 2,975; second, 2,300; third, 2, 206; fourth, 1,850; fifth, 4,044; seventh and eighth, 2,450; ninth, 2,-950; eleventh and twelfth, 4,112; thirteenth, 2.450: fourteenth, 4.344: fifeenth, 3,090; sixteenth, 2,350.

If the proposed amendment passes, an appropriation of $1,000,000 is to be made by the state to start the bank. As soon as loans of $500,000 are made to the farmers on their lands, debenture bonds, bearing 4.3 per cent interest, will be issued and sold to invest ors to reimburse the state.
